INTRODUCTION

The Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2000, PAIA gives effect to section 32 of the Constitution, which provides that everyone has the right to access information held by the State, as well as information held by another person (or private body) when such privately held information is required to exercise a right or to protect a right.

PAIA, provides that a person requesting information must be given access to any record of a private body, if that record is required for the exercise or the protection of a right. However, such request has to comply with the procedural requirements laid down by the Act.

This manual is compiled in accordance with Section 51 of PAIA and contains the following provisions:

- the FSP's postal address, street address, phone and fax number and e-mail address.
- a short description of the guidance document on the application of the Promotion of Information Act and the process to be followed in order to obtain a copy of this guide (compiled by the Human Rights Commission in terms of section 10 of the Act).
- the process to be followed in order to access information held by the FSP. See Annexure C.
- a description of the typology of records held by the FSP (i.e. various information subjects held on each category type). See Annexure A.
- a description of records which are freely available without having to submit a formal request to access information in terms of the Act. See Annexure B.
- a description of the FSP's information which are available in accordance with any other legislation.
